

Students' Paths following Graduation

About 90% of the graduates have advanced to higher education and go to universities, colleges, junior colleges or vocational schools. The remaining 10% of them have found employment. Almost all the graduates have achieved their goals. There has been a growing trend where more and more students are interested in learning medical treatment or nursing care for their future career.

